Strong condemnation of the ouster ove directed against Mayor James L. Key was side-stepped Monday by the Atlanta Christian Council, when that body voted to table resolutions presented by Dr. Len G. That the resolution asking that the recall effort be dropped, "not be construed in the light of a fear of change in the prohibition sentiment, but the result of the many-sided in-opportunities of a great and heated agitation in the community under the present distressed and oppressing conditions."

"My private opinion is that the council approved the sentiments expressed in the Broughton resolution, and that if it had gone to a vote, the measure would have been passed," Dr. Christie said.

"I will venture to say that 95 per cent of those present would have voted for them. I talked to virtually all of those present at the meeting and of those present at the meeting, and found only one man who said he would sign the recall petition. There was a sharp, but good-natured ex-change of views, but the council voted to side-track the entire matter by tabling it after Mr. Manget said the club would press the recall regardless of whether the council took any ac-

"City of Atlanta."

"Gentlemen:

"The city clerk has an original list and four copies of those voters registered in the last general election. The Greater Atlanta Prohibition and Law Enforcement Club, which is an organization of citizens banded together solely for the welfare of your city along the lines indicated by its name, has requested the loan of one of the copies for 60 days. Mr. Tatum advises that there is no provision to make such loan—although the safe return of same was guaranteed—and suggested that the sum of $65 or $5 for each ward, be paid for the use of these lists. "I was bothered with pimples that broke out all over my face and neck and sometimes caused me to have sleepless nights. They were hard, and red and festered and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned all the time and when I scratched them it caused eruptions. "They would vanish for a short time but would always come back. I read an advertisement where Cuticura Soap and Ointment were highly recommended so purchased some. water . . . the thirst that is nervous exhaustion — drink Welch's.

Here is a tonic-beverage blended by Nature from sunshine and dew in the highlands of upper New York state. As a drink alone it delights the most jaded appetite. But in addition to delicious taste are those nourishing mineral salts, neutralizing acids and fruit proteins which stay hunger and build bodily vigor.

Make a month's test, then check results. Use Welch's as the fruit course at breakfast, luncheon and dinner. Drink it between meals for thirst and for quick energy at "fatigue-time." You will find that this pure fruit juice promotes functional activities which will bring your weight up or down to normal. Muddy complexions grow rosy and clear. Dull eyes take on a youthful sparkle. In Europe they call this "the grape cure."

A supply of Welch's always in your pantry is the most convenient form of health insurance. If one-third to onehalf water is added, as many prefer, no other fruit is so economical. Make grape juice a family habit the year around, but insist on Welch's. Only then can you be certain that every step from the picking of the crop at its ripe best to the final sealing of the bottles is laboratory controlled.

Hyde Announces U. S. Plans | ALTERATIONS PLANNED For Greater Cotton Research TO HALT CRUISERS'ROLL

Secretary of Agriculture marketing, or from lowering the costs Make Special Effort on "Progress will be made more surely Great Commodity.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—Stressing the importance of cotton as a factor in America's world trade, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde today revealed plans of his department for enlarging and coordinating its research work on the south's principal commodity with a view of bringing about improved conditions in the industry.

Plans of the agricultural department were discussed by Secretary Hyde in an article prepared for the current issue of The Country Gentleman, advance copies of which were released here today.

"Neither the south nor the nation as a whole can afford to stand by complacently and watch the cotton industry suffer avoidable decadence," said the department head subsprojects. This department has bublished as a result of its own research problems. During 1928 and 1929 alone, the state explants of the country.

"Cotton is not only the key means of livelihood for the southern states; it serves in no small degree to keep the wheels of industry turning in other parts of the country.

For these reasons, we plan to enlarge and coordinate our research work for cotton. This means collective planning, collective thinking and collective working upon the supply and demand problems, the production problems, and upon the multitude of problems connected with the economic distribution and marketing of the crop, we hope to head this collective work up in a small committee within the United States department of agriculture.

Yet during this period world consumption of cotton outside of the United States has gone up more than 50 per cent. This expanded demand abroad has been supplied by foreign growers and only our greatly increased domestic consumption has enabled the cotton farmer to fare as well as he has.

WILTON, Fla., July 20.—(P)—Police today investigated the mysterious shooting to death from ambush of Aubra Gainer, 32-year-old bookkeeper here and owner of a drug store in Crestview, Fla.

Gainer was shot Saturday night as he walked from his garage with his wife and small daughter after an automobile ride. The wounds resulted fatally yesterday.

Houston R. Covington, 26, former Oklahoman, is in jail in Pensacola in connection with the case, but officers have declined to reveal the grounds on which he is held.

contemplated. What we particularly plan is to paint all our research results into one picture, and viewing it as a whole, direct our energies to filling in the blank spots, and developing a program which shall relate itself practically to the larger problem of the cotton farmer of achieving an American standard of living.

"Two parts in our program have to do with planning the crop before it is produced and with marketing it afterwards. The cotton farmer or cannot eat or feed his crop. He must sell it at what the market will pay him for it. This is all the more reannot eat or feed his crop. He must sell it at what the market will pay him for it. This is all the more reason for adjusting production to market demand. He must, therefore, plan to produce such quantity as the market will take at a remunerative price; second, he must produce the kind and quality of product the market wants. Both of these principles have been applied in agriculture. Nowhere in farming is this more necessary than the growing of cotton.

Seeking System.

"For the marketing of cotton, we are trying to develop a co-ordinated system of co-operatives, built on the solid foundation of farmer membership, farmer ownership and farmer coutrol. To make such a system possible is the central purpose of the agricultural marketing act. In the short time this act has been in effect much progress has been made by cotton growers in solving their marketing cannot bring in the millennium in a year, It is constant.

"Co-operative marketing cannot bring in the millennium in a year. It will win its way by the results it achieves. It must do two things. It must market the product at less expense and thus save for the farmers a great share of the consumer's dollar; and second, it must pay for its commodity, must put a market premium according to quality on quality production. Co-operative marketing can do more. It can give farmers a hetter realization of their common interest in adjusting production to market demand, and it can provide the organization through which they can effectuate their plans, as a single united force.

Despite the grim evidence afforded by the blind the lame and the poisoned dead, the liquor buyer clings to his child-like faith in labels and regards his own bootlegger as the one incorruptible exception in a vast company of rogues.

In every such case the sharper is a confessed rogue, for his get-richquick scheme is based on some form of trickery, yet the victim's lust for easy money blinds him to the truth that men who live outside the law have no rules or standards that interfere with taking a profit. Is further evidence needed to prove this a generation of suckers?

If men in legitimate business, supported in virtue by fear of the law and public opinion, shame our civilization by their frequent dishonesties, who but a low-grade moron can put his trust in men who are avowed enemies of the law and protected in rascality by the assurance that their victims dare not make complaint? This generation is easily tricked because it no longer understands the significance of honor.

Years ago I heard a man boast that he regularly cheated a railroad by purchasing a ticket for a point many miles short of his destination.

Fifteen years later I heard without surprise that he had robbed the institution that trusted him with its funds A man's honor is fike a woman's virtue. He is wholly honorable or he is without honor.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 20. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Douglas Lotspeich, of Chattanooga, announce the engagenent of their daughter, Katherine, to William Ernest Parker, of Atlanta the wedding to take place in August.

King Eagle watched until he saw Speedfoot the Coyote and Mrs. Speedfoot give up and limp off to hide in the brush while they recovered their breath and from the effects of their fight with Mrs. Fleetfoot the Antelope.

"Good for Mrs. Fleetfoot," thought he. "She was too much for that rascally pair and I'm glad of that, for now they will not get those young Antelope before I have another chance myself. I could take one away from one Coyote, but it might be difficult to do it from two."

"Where have you been and why have you come with nothing for these children?" demanded Mrs. Eagle as King Eagle alighted on the shelf of the cliff where their nest was.

King Eagle told her all that he had seen. He described the fight between the Coyotes and Mrs. Fleetfoot and how determined she had been not to allow them in that patch of brush. The coyotes are more fought those Coyotes for any reason but to protect her babies," he concluded.

Mrs. Eagle nodded. "That is true," said she. "There must be babies there somewhere, and one of them would be a treat for our darlings. And it does seem from what you have told me that somehow you must have overlooked those babies in that brush. We'll go over there together and if we cannot see them from above we'll go down on the ground and walk around."

King Eagle chuckled. "We won't if Mrs. Fleetfoot is there," said she. "If Mrs. Fleetfoot is there, said she. "If Mrs. Fleetfoot is there, said she. "If Mrs. Fleetfoot is there," said she. There are bakeries, says Mrs. Hall, that do not welcome your inspection—bakeries that produce a bread you would not be satisfied to come to your table if you saw how it was made. So don't buy bread from any bakery that doesn't let you see for yourself how the bread is made. And if you love your family, don't feed them bread you don't know about-bread you haven't seen for yourself in the making.

A Double Coup With One

A Double Coup With One Entry

The opportunity to execute what is known as a coup in Bridge is comparatively rare and even when the opportunity occurs, most players are at a loss as to the manner in which to execute it.

The general term "coup," when applied in Bridge, means a lead or play of unusual significance. The coup with which we deal today is a play which involves two elements; namely, using an end play to capture an adverse honor, and secondly, reducing the trumps in partner's hand, usually the Dummy, to lead through the adverse honor, and secondly, reducing the trumps in the dominant trump hand to the same number as those held by the opponent so that this hand will not have to trump prematurely at the end and thus lead up to the adverse honor. All simple coups contain these two elements. Recently in a Duplicate game I saw the following example of the true coup situation:

North and South vulnerable
South—Dealer

Without the double coupt the secont unlikely. If West had led the 10 of clubs from 4. headed by the load of the set up 8 of clubs, and this would he lead a heart, as that would allow the lead of the set up 8 of clubs, and this would be forced to trump the third round be forced to trump the third round of spades, thus losing a spade trick in addition to the club and two diamonds already lost.

South saw that if West held the lone 9 of clubs, the lead of the Ace of clubs, and allow him to make the 8, using the Ace of hearts as his re-entry. This would allow the discard of a diamond, and result in the fullillment of the contract. Therefore, South decided to lead the Ace of clubs at once, and, if this failed to drop the 9, then to take in the king and Ace of clubs, with the hope that the next lead of the adversaries would be a club, the share the structure of the adversaries would be a club, and allow the lead of the set up 8 of clubs. The diamond head would he heart, as that would he lead a heart, as that would he lead a heart, as the trump the third round of spades, thus losing a spade trick

South obtained the contract at four spades without adverse bidding. West's opening lead was the 10 of clubs, on which the Knave, the Queen and the King were played. Trick 2 was won by the King of spades. West playing the 9. In spite of his fear that West's 9 was a singleton, South thought it best to play for the 3-2 division, and won the third trick with the Queen of spades on which West played the 4 of diamonds. The necessity for the double coup was then displayed the 4 of diamonds. The necessity for the double coup was then disclosed, but South's problem was how to execute the double coup with only one entry in Dummy, and also how to avoid being in the lead at trick 12. One ruff could be obtained on the third round of hearts, but the only way to get the second ruff was by giving the adversaries a change to way to get the second run was by giving the adversaries a chance to lead clubs or hearts when South could trump either of these suits that might be led. Of course, if South could set up the 8 of clubs before playing the Ace of hearts, and thus discard the losing diamond, or over-of hearts, and then to lead the deuce of clubs, with the hope that the next lead of the adversaries would be a club or a heart. This plan was carried out. On the third round of hearts, East discarded the 5 of diamonds. When West failed to follow to the third club lead, the 6 of clubs was played from Dummy, and was won by East's 7. East then obligingly led the 9 of clubs, and South completed the double coup, and threw the lead at trick 10 with a diamond, and won the last two tricks with his trump tenace, thus making his contract.

After partner has made a bid, an Overcall in opponent's bid suit indicates Slam possibilities and generally no losers in adverse suit.

Bid Demonstrated

The value of the psychic or bluff bid in contract bridge was demonstrated in a game recently played in Atlanta, an account of which is sent to The Constitution by Mrs. Annie Adair Foster, widely known bridge instructor of this city, who is a graduate of the Culbertson studio in New York.

Mrs. Foster's description of the bidding and play emphasizes that the bid in question resulted in a lead which made possible the making of the little slam bid when otherwise the hand was good for only five tricks.

Berry received a flattering vote for the democratic nomination for vice president in 1428.

THE AMATEUR SITUATION.

Our amateur golfers and tennis players don't seem to be able to get going in the fashion to which Americans became accustomed when Big-Bill Tilden was swinging that racquet and Bobby Jones was swinging that club.

The tennis players, as witness the Davis cup team, appeared to be just a lot of nervous youngsters. They may come along in a few years and then again they may not. There is no telling what the youth of the land will do.

Amateur golfers offer no outstanding player. Neither do the professionals for that matter. The departure of the man Jones ing be left the grand old game in such a fix that there is no telling what will happen when a tournament begins.

There doesn't seem to be a golfer anywhere near Jones. As a matter of fact, of course, there isn't one.

The Davis cup players would hardly have survived the French had they got by the English. Their defeat will do a great deal for the remainder of the boys playing tennis. They will dig in harder than ever for the next championships.

There is a chance to break into the Davis cup ranks. It is rather awful to contemplate, however, just what the

NEW YORK. July 20.—(IP)—
Right now it is proving just a little bit bitter, because at the Houston store they have a swell pitcher that they need right badly at Sportsman's Park. They can't call him in because the Houston folks will howl their heads off and Houston may lose its chance to cop the Texas league pennant. The prized pitcher is none other than the highly-publicized Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, to all intents and purposes the best looking young hurler in minor league baseball.

Dean is by far the leading pitcher in the Texas league. He has won 18 games and lost but 5, has given up an average of only a bit more than five hits per game, and is leading the league in strike-outs by a wide, wide margie.

The Dizzy one is the idol of all Houston. The turnstiles click merrily when it is his turn to pitch. Leaving him at Houston, the Cardinal organization is furnishing the Buffs their best drawing card and getting a monetary return as well as upholding the Houston pennant chances.

And here is Dizzy's record for last reek: On Sunday he beat Galveston 6 to the four runs being just about many as any Texas league team has scored off him in nine innings.

RIGHT BACK. On Thursday night he came back and shut out Jake Atz's Shreveport Sports 8 to 0, coasting to one of the many easy victories in his column of cighteen.

On Friday night Shreveport and Houston were tied up, 2 to 2, in the last of the seventh. Manager Joe Schultz decided to send in a pinch hitter for his pitcher and hurried Dizzy into the bulling.

with only a little warming up he went into the box in the start of the eighth. The first three batters went out on strikes. In the ninth the Dizzy one forced the first two to ground out to be infield and street. out to the infield and struck out the third.

Is This Tough?

In the tenth he set the side down on strikes, and in the twelfth he struck out three more, but in the thirteenth the Sports got to him for two scratch hits and a clean double and he lost the game. It was a heartbreaker. He had retired 15 men in order. 10 on srikes, yet he lost.

It's a copper-riveted cinch that Dizzy's address will be Sportsman's park next summer, and it is a pretty good bet that he'll stay there for a long, long time. They call him Dizzy for two reasons. He's that way himself and he keeps the opposing batters in the same fix.

There are laws in Virginia against trappin' or nettin' game fish in public streams. Evide by there had been some talk about this fish wheel bein' illegal, and the day a committee from this fishin' club appeared before the game and inland fisheries commission with a resolution that, in a nice way, gave this club the right to keep on usin' their fish wheel, like they'd been doin' for years and years. While it appeared to be legal, the wheel bein' in what could be construed as a private stream, yet it was right hard to draw the line as far as the public was concerned. The commission worried over it for two days, wantin' to do the right thing.

Finally the commission just up and told the commistee that the whole thing was right embarrassin'. whole thing was right embarrassin' to them, if they gave this permission to run their wheel it would just open up the law for violations. Fish Feel the Heat Cairo Ball Nine, 4-0 More Than Humans

WASHINGTON, July 20 .- If you could change yourself into a fish, you still wouldn't be able to escape the heat. Finned fanners of liquid depths have their heat wave worries, too-in fact, more than city dwellers, and largely because of them.

Fishes are extremely sensitive to temperature variations, and devoid of all comforting "fans" except an occasional outboard motor propeller, and whenever people start saying they are "just about to suffocate," fishes by the thousands are actually suffocating.
Thus blasting a popular summertime fancy, officials of the American Game

Association have announced that high temperatures combined with unusually low water levels are already taking a huge toll of valuable fish life. Bodies of water whose contributing streams have dried up. due to a continuation of drouth conditions, are losing their supply of oxygen.

Rescue squads are already at work in California, Montana, Wisconsin, Missouri and other states. More than a million fishes were saved in each of these states last summer, the first season of extreme oxygen "depression." Outboard motor boats were used on several lakes as an emergency relief, to disturb the water so that it relief, to disturb the water so that it would absorb more oxygen from the

NEW YORK, July 20.—(UP)—
The first "American heavyweight championship" fight since the introduction of boxing gloves will be staged at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Wednesday with Jack Sharkey, of Boston, defending the title against Mickey Walker, of Rumson, N. J., in a 15-tound bout.

Walker, of Rumson, N. J., in a 10found bout.

The "American championship" is a new title in boxing, having been originated by the New York athletic commission after Max Schmeling won from Jack Sharkey last summer to take the world's heavyweight crown away from the United States for the first time since 1880, when Paddy
Ryan defeated Joe Goss, of England, to become undisputed bare knuckle champion of the world.

Goss was succeeded as world cham on by John L. Sullivan, who con tinued as king of the heavyweights after boxing gloves were introduced and the Marquis of Queensbury rules adopted in 1890. His successors, from ames J. Corbett down through Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, all were Americans, and while the world's championship remained in the United States there was no thought of an American championship.

world title, Sharkey, who is outstand-ing among the American contenders, became the logical candidate for the American title and that honor, if it is American title and that honor, if it is an honor, was given him by acclaim. After Max Schmeling was suspended in New York and his title declared vacated, the New York commission declared that it would recognize the winner of a bout between Sharkey and any worthy opponent as world champion, but the manner in which Schmeling has been accepted by the public since his victory over Young Stribling resulted in the commission abandoning this plan. Sharkey is a hysterical fighter. He is powerful and dangerous in the early rushes. He lashes himself into a violent rage. If he connects he is quite likely to stop anybody. But if he does not connect or connects without dropping his man he blows up. He could flatten a Maloney or a fainting Phil Scott quickly enough but he could do nothing against the rubbery Mr. Risko or Young Stribling. If it should happen that he meets the more phlegmatic Max Schmeling again you will see just how decidedly Mr. Sharkey is a front runner. No Action Taken On Balloon Ball: Future Mystery

NEW YORK, July 20.—(P)— The days of the "balloon" golf ball may be numbered, as many close observers believe, but it is due for quite a few more flights before anything is done about the protests that have piled up since its adop-tion this year by the United States Golf Association.

Speculation was revived today by the publication of reports that the association was about ready to consign the oversized sphere to the scrap-heap, but the fact is that no official action has yet been taken, nor is any decision immediately in

This much can be said on the authority of Herbert H. Ramsay, president of the U. S. G. A., and the dominating figure in its councils. As to what the future may hold, or what conclusions may be reached after more complete analysis of reports from all parts of the country, Mr. Ramsay is diplomatically silent.

The best guess right along has been that the balloon ball will continue to be official for the rest of the 1931 big tournament season. It Protests against the larger, lighter ball have mounted since it became official last January 1, but they have not been consistent or they have not been consistent or clear-cut enough for definite conclusions to be based on. Some of the most fiery opponents have cooled off under the influence of more thorough tests. Others apparently feel convinced there is a happy medium between the old and new balls, retaining the best features of each—namely, the new size and the old weight.

Although the national industrial conference board reported that the June decrease in general business was larger than seasonal, some lines are distinctly improved, which suggests that the pent-up consumer demand is spilling over. Gains in textiles, rubber and shoes have been particularly encouraging; another barometer of trade, the sales reports of a large mail order house, disclosed a decrease of only 1 per cent for the four weeks ended July 16, as compared with a year ago. Taking into account the intervening reduction in prices, the actual turnover of goods was considerably larger in the recent period.

Many of the second quarter earnings reports are not as unfavorable as had been predicted, for some have represented small gains over 1931 and in many others the declines have been moderate. Colgate-Palm

NEW YORK, July 20.—Today's stock market presented the peculiar anomaly of prices and vancing on extremely low volume. The inference is clear, namely, that holders of stocks are unwilling to part with them at these levels and purchasers must bid higher in order to induce any appreciable volume of offerings.

NEW YOR, July 20.—The market opened 7 to 12 points up this moraling and although it sold off slightly after the call, steadily improved during the remainder of the seasion with quite a spurt before the close, which was around the best of the day and 33 to 37 points net higher. Spot houses, the trade, co-ops, far eastern interests and shorts were among early buyers, while selling appeared to come principally from Liverpool, continent, local professionals and New Orleans. Later in the day spot houses were credited with lifting hedges, especially July, and this buying together with covering hy earlier sellers appears to have been largely responsible for upward movement of values this afternoon.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Liverpool was better this morning as confidence that favorable results will be obtained from the meeting in London developed. Our market met the advance abroad, remaining quiet and duil during the early part of the session to improve some $2 a bale in the later afternoon on short covering and unfavorable weather conditions in the south, where more than enough rain has fallen. It is feared that a continuation of this weather may cause weevil damage and severe shedding due to the lack of fertilizer to give the plant the necessary life to withstand frequent showers and hot weather.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow July 5.12; October 5.22. LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Cotton developed considerable strength today scoring a net advance of 33 to 35 points. The causes contributing to this upturn were the firm cables, the more optimistic view concerning the foreign situation and the continued wet weather over the belt which is causing increasing apprehension of weevil damage. The demand came chiefly from shorts, price fixing and scattered new buying. New Orleans was active on the buying side while contracts were comparatively scarce. Should the weevil weather continue there is apt to develop a scare that would bring about a substantial advance. Continue to favor purchases on good setbacks.

CHICAGO, July 20 .- (AP) - Quick breaks in corn prices today resulted from widespread heavy rains that came just in the nick of time to dispel fears of crop shortage. Prices of the pivotal stocks moved within a narrow range and business for the five-hour session was smaller than at any time since 1926. Cablegrams from London failed to capiegrams from London failed to furnish any incentive for new com-mitments and both the bulls and the bears were disposed to leave the mar-ket alone pending definite develop-ments abroad. The closing of another German bank was announced but it failed to have any influence on senti-ment here.

The only encouraging development of the session was that notwithstand-ing the dullness, the general list con-inued to show a firm undertone. losing prices showed net gains of from a fraction to a full point in the standard issues. American Telephone was one of the strong features of the late dealings, closing with a net gain late dealings, closing with a net gain of nearly two points. Buying of this issue was attributed to one of the big speculative bulls whose buying recently has been attracting attention. Du Pont, which has been another favorite with this speculator, also showed a firmer tendency in the late dealings, closing with a net gain of a point and a half. Commercial Solvents, also favored by the big Boston clique, continued to show activity but failed to get anywhere.

The statement of earnings of the National Biseuft Coffipany for the second quarter of this year and figures for the six months ended June 10 failed to confirm the recent rumors of poor earnings which accompanied selling of the stock. Net profits of the company for the second quarter were 66 cents a share compared with 70 cents a share for the preceding three months. For the gix months net profits equaled $1.37 a share against $1.48 for the corresponding period last year.

BETTER MAIL ORDERS. that for the four-week period ended July 16, there was only a decline of 1 per cent in sales compared with the same period last year. In the four weeks ended June 18, last, when the preceding report was made, sales showed a decline of 5.3 per cent compared with the same period in 1930.

The bull group which has been operating in Chrysler Motor continued to inject life into that issue and succeeded in moving its price up nearly a point. Westinghouse Electric and A point. Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing gained nearly a point following announcement of earnings of 33 cents a share for the second quarter of this year compared with a substantial deficit the first quarter. This showing was in line with tweent reports in the Street and accounted for the failure of the stock to reflect any surprise.

MORE COPPER BOUGHT

counted for the failure of the stock to reflect any surprise.

MORE COPPER BOUGHT

Ports of increased sales of copper metal to Europe imparted some strength to the copper stocks, Anaconda Copper leading with a net gain of more thaz a point. Kennecott Copper was also in demand at higher quotations. Sales of the metal abroad were estimated at 5,000,000 pounds largely to France and Germany, while 4,000,000 pounds were sold here on Saturday. The red metal is again reported as seiling at 8 cents a pound, an advance of one-quarter of a cent over the price prevailing last week.

Sugar stocks were in slightly better demand owing to annouscement of an advance of 10 points in the price of refined sugar. American Sugar Refining and South Porto Rican Sugar were most active in this group and advanced more than a point each.

Expectation that good results will come from the special meeting of the Texas legislature continued to exert a favorable influence on the oil stocks which were higher. Houston Oil rose 2 points on a comparatively small volume of dealings. Texas Corporation was a point higher and Standard Oil of New Jersey closed fractionally higher. The bringing in of a well in a new field in Michigan was signored.

Tobacce shares continued in favor although dealings in them were not on as heavy a scale as last week. Lorillard continued the leader of this group and get up to a new high figure-for this movement.

found it impossible to make successful non-stop westward crossings of the North Atlantic. European military planes could make the flight and bombard the United States sea coast.

"They most certainly could," he said. "We only know of the commercial attempts, or private flyings. Wait until we see what the military planes of Europe can do."

Lieutenant Williams said that this country was far behind Europe in development of fast planes.

"I don't know what is to be done about speeding up our air service." he said. "We are content to go rocking along with 600 horse-power when there is every indication that there will not be an entry in the Schaeider cup races in September with less than 2,000 horsepower. I have done everything I could to bring to the attention of the powers in aviation the importance of our at least measuring up to the pace set by the Europeans, but there is no shaking the people, who dominate aviation, out of their apathy."

ANTI-PROHIBITIONIST IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

RENO. Nev., July 20.—(P)—Ruth Ogden Sabin today filed suit for divorce from Charles H. Sabin Jr., head of the Crusaders, anti-prohibition organization, and son of the chairman of the board of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. She charged desertion.

desertion.

Sabin previously had filed suit on grounds of cruelty, but it is understood that recent conferences led to an agreement that Mrs. Sabin would be allowed to at the divorce.

At last the terrific storm ceased. Pellucidar's sun burst forth upon a steaming world. The three beast-men arose and shook themselves. Then Tarzan saw that the torrential rain had erased every trace of the spoer they had been following. Foot by foot, they clambered upward toward the higher peaks. But nowhere did the ape-man find the slighest sign to show him that either Jana or Jason had come this way.

"There are three of us," said Tarzan. "What have we to fear?" "You do not know the thipdars," said Thoar. "They are hard to kill and they are never defeated until they are killed." "How do you know defeated until they are killed. How do you know it will attack us?" asked the ape-man. "It is coming in our direction," replied Thoar. "It cannot help but see us, and whatever a thipdar sees, it attacks. I wish we had a tree's shelter." "See, it comes!" cried Tar-gash, fearfully.

Down to their ears came a sound resembling the escaping of steam. "It has seen us!" cried Thoar. Tarzan took a handful of arrows from his quiver and fitted one to his bow. Tar-gash swung his club slowly to and fro and growled. On came the giant dragon, the flapping of its immense wings mingled with a loud and angry hiss. The three men waited, poised, ready, expectant. There were no preliminaries. The mighty creature dove straight toward them.
